Democrats, to the Polls!

Every good democrat should attend the polls early on Tuesday, and consider himself a special committee of one to aid in bringing out the voters. We must have a full vote. Worden's election depends upon it. From the best information we can procure we expect the balance of the district will give Case at least 1000 majority. This has got to be overcome by the democrats of Allen County, and to do it we must have a full vote Every vote is needed, and no man should s'ay at when it is possible his vote might elect Worden. Each Legislature confers such powers and imposes such restrictions and provides such penalties for infringe-ments as it chooses. Although individuals are in some instances restrained from issuing currency, there are few limits, if any, upon their power to transact banking business. It cannot be denied that incorporated wealth in the form of banks has many conveniences are enjoyed by private individuals, while they are subject to ome hazards. Nor can it be disputed that many banks have been wisely and prudently managed, conferring many conveniences and advantages, and that their managers have displayed prudence and patriotism on important occasions. When money panies and financial crisis are upon us, the banks have full occupation in taking care of themselves, and in stead of supplying their customers with the facilities to which they have been accustomed, the latter are called upon for contributions to sustain the banks themselves, and if they do not, make them both fail. A system producing such results is neither wise nor safe, and ought not to he continued. Legislators have contrived and enacted many statute provisions to guard against these evils, but all have proved ineffectual to avoid them. Some States have required the capital to be paid in before commencing business and issuing bills. This has often been done by barrowing the amount, so that there was no real capital. Others have required mortgages to be filed with some public officer as security for bills obtained of him, to be used by the bank These mortgages soldom produce half their face. and billholders lose largely. We had something of this sort of relief in 1837, when the country was flooded with shin-plasters. A similar remedy in 1857 for Penusylvania will be followed with corresponding results. If the Legislature can do nothing better than this, it would act wisely to adjourn without doing anything at all-New York Her.

The Ticket, the Whole Ticket, and Nothing but the Ticket:-One of the very best test of a man's attachment to his party and its organization, is the course he pursues when the candidates nominated on a ticket are not his favorites. If the ticket embraces those whom he likes, it is a very easy matter to support it. Under such circumstances a person who has no political principles would also support it. But when the candidates of our _choice are defeated for nomination, and others who have dealt unkindly by ourselves or our friends, are placed on the ticket, then it is that our attachment for the good old cause of Democracy and the maintenance of its organization, is to be tested. The man who falters under such circumstances, allows his prejudices and dislikes to rise superior to his devotion to the cause. But he who forgets his individual griefs, and sustains the nominated ticket, not because they are regularly chosen candidates of the party to whose principles he professes attachment—that man proves that his Democracy rises higher and goes far beyond all mere selfish considerations .- Newark Advocate.

The "Religious" Riots in Ireland .- Brief mention has been made in the Halifax Dispatch of "religious" riots at Felfast, Ireland, on the 6th inst. The particulars are, that as Rev Hugh Hanna was delivering an evangelical address, is the open air, to a congregation of three thousand creix thousand people, first one whistle and then another in a different direction, were heard, whereupon the crowd immediately divided, each party taking its own side. The Belfast Mercury thus bescribes the scene that ensued:

"A volley of stones came from the party next the dock, accompanied by a cheer, which was answered, and in less time than it takes us to narrate it, the conflicting parties were fighting Those next the docks gave way, pursued by men who it afterward appeared were principally shipwrights, brandishing wooden bludgeons used in their trade. The fighting portion of the mob went up Donegall quay, and in a short time afterward about forty young men and boys ran into the shippards al the xuay, from which they speedily returned with a further supply of the respons alreado mentioned. In the mean time their opponents were reinforced, and came to ward the scene of action, driving the stragglers before them in no very tender mode, wen a before them in the stragglers before them in the strange of the s conflict ensued, which ended by their retreat in all directions. The treatment some men then received was dreadful. When the Catholic mob sought safety in flight they were knocked down in all direc- o tions, and brutally treated. One man especially received such abuse that if he survives, it may be said that a man's skull can resist anything. The belligerents again went up the quay, but were stopped about Gamble street by the constabulary, under sub inspector Bindon. The two parties were then separated, and we to the unhappy man, whether Protestant or Catholic, whose business or pleasure left him within the power of either mob. Many innocent persons of both sides, who knew nothing of the disturbance have been the sufferers, and it will be well if loss of life does not result from the brutality of these miscreants?

The New York Tribune cautions persons in quest of work or situations of any kind against going to that city before next spring. It says there is not employment for those that are there now, and estimates that on the 1st of December there will be 100,000 persons in the city who will be unable to obtain anything to do.

Democratic Rally

THIS EVENING. There will be a grand rally of the democrats of Fort Wayne this evening, at Colerick's Hall. JUDGE WORDEN and other democrats will proclaim the truths of Democracy, and show up the sophisms, trickery, and falsehoods of our opponents. Let every democrat be on hand !

Send in the Returns!

We'will be obliged if some friend in each of the counties of this 'Congressional District will send us the earliest reliable accounts of the result?

Democrats, to the Polls!

Every good democrat should attend the polls early on Tuesday, and consider bluself a special committee of one to aid in bringing out the voters. We must have a full vote. Worden's election depends upon it. From the best information we can procure we expect the balance of the district will give Case at least 1000 majority. . This has got to be overcome by the democrats of Allen County, and to do it we must have a full vote, Every vote is needed, and no man should s'ay at home under the impression that the democrats are so strong that a vote more or less is no object. when it is possible his vote might elect Worden. To the pells, democrats! and help to redeem your district.

Beware of Know Nothing Intrigues! An insiduous attempt is making to excite religious animosities among the voters of this county, and make religious tenets rather than political principles the test of qualification for office. We are told, but cannot crudit so monstrous an accusation, that many Lutherans have been seduced by Know Nothing emissaries to forswear their political principles enlist under the banners of proscription, and vote against Furste for Auditor because he is a Catholic. Can it be possible that any German democrat can so far forget himselt as to do this? What must be the result of such a suicidal policy? It will inflet an irreparable wound on the democratic party. and make a split that can never be healed. ' li Catholics this year, the Catholics will oppose the Lutherans next year, and the result will be religion or sectarianism will govern the polls.

If so, then farewell to all civil and religious liberty.

And for whom are they thus called upon to being their party, and forsake their once cheri-hed principles of universal tolerance and equality? For Mr Cochrane, who though a good man and highly esteemed citizen, has always been a most bitter and uncomoromising foe of the democratic party, and has become a standing candidate of the fusionists for every effice that is vacant In old times who was a stronger whig than John Cochrane? who was a more ardent advocate of the odious prohibition and confiscation law than he? and now, who ever did more to sustain know nothingism than he does, in thus lighting the torch of religious strife? Did he ever give a democratic vote in his life? has he the slightest claim on any democrat for his vote, or can any democrat vote for him, and not feel that he is descriing and betraying his party?

ration, and without any controlling agency by our national government. Each Legislature confers such powers and imposes such restric tions and provides such penalties for infringements as it chooses. Although individuals are in some instances restrained from issuing curreney, there are few limits, if any, upon their power to transact banking business. It cannot be denied that incorporated wealth in the form of banks has many conveniences are enjoyed by private individuals, while they are subject to ome hazards. Nor can it be disputed that many banks have been wisely and prudently managed conferring many conveniences and idvantages, and that their managers have displayed prudence and patriot.sm on important occasions. But this neither proves the system wise nor sound, nor the mode of management prudent or safe to themselves or the public Experience has incontestably proved that at to day. times when bank facilities are most needed by their customers and the public, they are the leas able to grant them, and when least needed, their ability is greatest. When money panies and financial crisis are upon us, the banks have full occupation in taking care of themselves, and in stead of supplying their customers with the facil ities to which they have been accustomed, the latter are called upon for contributions to sustain the banks themselves, and if they do not, make them both fail. A system producing such results is neither wise nor safe, and ought not to be continued. Legislators have contrived and enacted many statute provisions to guard against these evils, but all have proved ineffectual to avoid them. Some States have required the capital to be paid in before commencing business and issping bills. This has often been done by borrowing the amount; so that there was no real capital. Others have required mortgages to be filed with some public officer as security for bills obtained of him, to be used by the bank These mostgages soldom produce half their face and billholders lose largely. Others require a like deposit of state stocks. These are often borrowed, and constitute a debt against the bank, and billholders frequently suffer. However contrived, these securities do not secure and protect the depositors and other creditors, nor the stockholders, and the former often suffer the latter to lose their whole subscription to the stock. No legislation has yet provided securities against these evils. They lie too low to be reached by any of the present legislative reme dies. While individuals are daily called upon and required to pay their debts, whether due to individuals, banks or the government, and their property is seized and sold without reference to sacrifice or consequences, if they do not pay promptly, we have seen heretofore nearly every bank, and now many of them boid.y refuse to pay their debts, and shoulder all the losses and consequences upon their comparatively helpless creditors and the peorle, thousands I whom may be sacrificed in their weakness to savefone bank on occo int of its combined strength We have seen laws passed to protect banks against their creditors who might resort to suits to assert their rights. The Legislators of New York in 1837 passed one denying those who sued banks for small sums, the costs payable by individuals, while they were required to sue al corporations in a court of record, where they would necessarily accive to a very considerable amount. Fortunately, this subserviency to banks led to provisions in her constitution to prevent future like legislation. > Coin in this Country:-The Philadelphia North American has looked into the official figures for a series of years, in order to approximate a safe. ninion on the amount of coin now in the country. The result is regarded as very encouraging ata the present juncture. There has been an enormous drain of specie to pay for foreign goods; but great as it is, the coinage has been greater. This paper states that there is now in the United States, at least two hundred and ninety millions of dollars. When the revulsion of 1837 occurred there were not over sixty or seventy millions of coinage in the whole country, and about one half of it in the banks, to meet liabilities reaching three hundred and forty millions. Croakers, who are disposed to compare the two periods, and to find in them like causes and consequences, will do well to ponder upon the facts here prosented. There is gold and silver enough to have a specie currency, and why not adopt it?—Now s a capital time to do so, as the prices of all kinds of property are coming down to that basis.

The Ticket, the Whole Ticket, and Nothing but the Ticket:—One of the very best test of a man's attachment to his party and its organization is the course of tion, is the course he pursues when the candidates nominated on a ticket are not his favorites. If the ticket embraces those whom he likes, it is a very easy matter to support it. Under such cir cumstances a person who has no political principles would also support it. But when the candidates of our choice are defeated for nomination, and others who have dealt unkindly by ourselves or our friends, are placed on the ticket. then it is that our attachment for the good old cause of Democracy and the maintenance of its organization, is to be tested. The man who falters under such circumstances, allows his prejudices and dislikes to rise superior to his devotion to the cause. tion has been made in the Halifax Dispatch of "religious" riots at Felfast, Ireland, on the 6th inst. The particulars are, that as Rev Hugh Hanna was delivering an evangelical address, in the open air, to a congregation of three thousand cr six thousand people, first one whistle and then another in a different direction, were heard, whereupon the crowd immediately divided, each party taking its own side. The Belfast Mercury thus bescribes the scene that ensued: "A volley of stones came from the party next the dock, accompanied by a cheer, which was all directions. The treatment some men then received was dreadful. When the Catholic mob sought satety in flight they were knocked down in all directions, and brutally treated. One man especially received such abuse that if he survives, it may be said that a man's skull can resist anything. The belligerents again went up the quay, but were stopped about Gamble street by the constabulary, under sub inspector Bindon.
